4081ST STRATEGIC WING (SAC)

Welcome to Ernest Harmon Air Force Base and to the 4081st Strategic Wing. We are located here, as we are, as guests of the Canadian Government and specifically, of the Province of Newfoundland.

The Harmon-Stephenville community numbers around eight or nine thousand people. Much that has taken place in Stephenville has been the result of our help; similarly, the people in Stephenville are, in a large way, responsible for the facilities we have here on the base.

For those of you who are about to be assigned here, I hope this booklet will help answer the many questions you must have. Our facilities are improving all the time and their location, hours of operation, and so forth are pointed out in the booklet. I hope you will make good use of them, as they were put here for you.

COMMANDER
4081ST STRATEGIC WING
ERNEST HARMON AIR FORCE BASE
STEPHENVILLE, NEWFOUNDLAND

THE HISTORY OF ERNEST HARMON AIR FORCE BASE

The base is named in honor of Captain Ernest Harmon, an Air Corps pilot who lost his life on 27 August 1933, when his plane crashed on a flight from Maryland to Mitchel Field, New York. Captain Harmon was holder of the Detroit News Trophy, which he won at the Cleveland Air Races in 1925.

The military installation covers an area of 8,159 acres. In February 1941, the U. S. Corps of Engineers made preliminary surveys, and construction began soon thereafter. From that time until September 1943, air traffic was practically non-existent. In September, the base became a part of the Air Transport Command, and initial construction was begun.

In 1948, EHAFB joined the Newfoundland Base Command, a part of the Military Air Transport Service, where it remained until 1950. At that time, the U. S. Northeast Command and the Northeast Air Command were formed, and Ernest Harmon was transferred to NEAC. The base remained under the control of NEAC until April 1, 1957, when NEAC was deactivated. At that time, Ernest Harmon was named the home of the 4081st Strategic Wing under the Eighth Air Force, Strategic Air Command.

THE MISSION OF ERNEST HARMON AIR FORCE BASE

At Ernest Harmon, we are an integral part of the global Strategic Air Command operation, and as such, have a mission to train and maintain a force capable of performing those base functions and services which are required to successfully support SAC emergency plans and tactical training operations.

As a secondary mission, the base provides support to aircraft of the Eastern Transport Air Force, as well as other transient aircraft. There is little difference between the peacetime and wartime aspects of this mission.

GEOGRAPHICAL LOCATION

Ernest Harmon Air Force Base is located on the shore of St. George's Bay, adjacent to the town of Stephenville on the west coast of Newfoundland.

The base is 238 air miles from the capitol of the Province - St. John's. Thirty-two miles west, on the north shore of the bay, lies Cape St. George, the most west point of the island.

Elevation of the base is 86 feet above sea level. Sufficient land area exists to provide a runway 10,000 feet long, which is long enough to accommodate current types of USAF aircraft.

The installation is 900 miles northeast of McGuire AFB, New Jersey, and is a stop-over and refueling point for SAC, ETAF and transient aircraft proceeding from the Zone of Interior to various overseas bases, and returning.

Ernest Harmon also hosts a jet fighter interceptor squadron for air defense against a cross-polar attack. The squadron is a part of the joint American-Canadian NORAD defense network.

Airmen will clear squadron functions including unit supply, shown on the clearance form on the day they report to their organization.

Incoming officers will start processing, Bldg. 245, room 217, phone 2-2266, and receive their assignment on the first working day after arrival in the same manner as airmen. The Commander of the organization to which the officer is being assigned will be notified that the officer is at the Processing Center.

Processing will notify each officer at the initial interview of any other agencies that will be necessary for him to personally clear. ## HUNTING AND FISHING IN NEWFOUNDLAND

For the fisherman or hunter, Newfoundland is a paradise of virgin forest with unlimited hunting and fishing possibilities.

Ocean fishing does not require a license. Fish that may be caught include trout, salmon, cod, flounder, haddock, ocean perch, eels, and other varieties. Game fish in streams must be caught with flies as no plugs are allowed.

Outdoor Shot of Scenery

Resident fishing licenses are $5.00 for salmon and trout; non-residents must pay $25.00 for salmon and trout licenses.

Big game hunting includes moose, caribou and bear. Small game includes ptarmigan, ducks, geese and snipe. Hunting licenses depend largely upon the zone or part of the country hunted.

Outdoor Scenery

Seasons are short, and big game licenses for the short season generally cost $25.00 and $75.00 for the late season. But then again, it depends upon the area that the hunter is in. Small game licenses for residents are $2.00 per season, and $5.00 for non-residents. Military personnel become eligible for a resident license after residing one year in Newfoundland.

It is unlawful to hunt game on Sundays. Service weapons cannot be used, and .22 calibre rifles may not be used to hunt any big game. Rifles used for hunting must have a muzzle energy of 750 pounds or more, and shotguns cannot be smaller than 20 gauge.

Full particulars on hunting and fishing laws, licenses, etc. may be had by contacting the Personnel Services Office.

OUTDOOR FUN AT CAMP 33

One of the most attractive features of Harmon's recreational program is the combination summer and winter recreational camp, Camp 33.

Located approximately 33 miles from the base, in the heart of Newfoundland's western timber country, the camp is ideally located on the southwestern tip of Grand Lake, and offers top services to both hunters and fishermen the year 'round. Eight cabins for use by military personnel and their families, and a bunkhouse capable of housing 24 single men, constitute the billeting facilities. A fully equipped kitchen in which each man can do his own cooking is also maintained at the camp. Ten boats (mostly Fiberglass) with outboard motors are available to aid the fisherman in finding the right pools for his cast, while four additional hunting sites provide bases in the heart of caribou and moose country. Adequate docking facilities are available for boats, while camp space is made available through the Personnel Services Supply Section, where fishing tackle can also be borrowed. For information and etc., contact Personnel Services.

THINGS YOU SHOULD KNOW ABOUT

Various and sundry bits of information which may prove either interesting and/or helpful to you has been compiled into this section.

CLIMATE

The climate in Newfoundland is largely influenced by the Gulf Stream which passes along the south and east coasts. Snow usually arrives in December, and stays until April, with an average of 95.5 inches per year. An average of eight inches falls with each storm.

September through November are the rainy months with an average rainfall of five and one-half inches each month. Temperatures are moderate with an average of 24 degrees in winter and 61 degrees in summer. Winter temperatures may be as low as 15 degrees below zero, while summer temperatures go up to 85 degrees. Fog is prevalent in the south coastal area, but at Ernest Harmon, available records reveal that the field is below minimums for aircraft operations due to fog only 3.6 percent of the time.

SCHOOLS

Ernest Harmon AFB children of grade school age have a recently constructed school. The most complete in the area, the school provides the children with an overall floor space of 21,000 square feet. An auditorium, complete with a 1,000 square foot stage, is used for student body gatherings and other entertainment.

In addition to 15 classrooms, the school has a library, music room, plus complete locker and toilet facilities. The school is equipped with a modern fire alarm system, and fire fighting equipment built into the hallway walls.

Children six years of age by 31 December are eligible for enrollment at the beginning of the scholastic year. The school is operated for a term of nine months beginning in September. Textbooks, school supplies and recreational equipment are furnished. In short, upon arriving at Harmon, grade school children will be offered a modern building and up-to-date curriculum.

The high school is located in a much older facility, however, current plans call for a new high school addition to the present grade school structure. High school courses are offered on a par with Stateside schools.

Ernest Harmon Grade School

The high school, which includes grades seven through twelve, incorporates academic courses in its curriculum including foreign languages, math, English, and science. Commercial courses, however, are also offered, and include typing and shorthand.

Catholic school facilities for grades one through eleven are available in the town of Stephenville. Parents electing to send their children to the Catholic school must pay tuition.

A kindergarten, operated and supported by parents of kindergarten age children, is available. Children must be five years of age to be eligible for each September class, which runs through May.

Bus transportation is furnished to and from the base schools.

BANKING FACILITIES

Currency services are now available at the main BX store. The facility offers check cashing for sums over one dollar; however, they will not cash foreign or Canadian checks or U. S. Postal Money Orders. The facility sells both Bank of Montreal Money Orders, payable and sold in U. S. currency; and American Express Travelers' Cheques.

There are no on-base banking facilities. Both the Royal Bank of Canada and the Bank of Montreal operate branches in nearby Stephenville. Checking and savings accounts are available to personnel, and personal loans can also be arranged.

SERVICE STATION

The Base Gasoline Station sells standard 80-86 octane gasoline, and heavy duty 10-20-30 weight oil. No other services are available. However, many major oil companies are represented with services in the Stephenville area.

RED CROSS

The specific mission of the American Red Cross at Ernest Harmon is to provide service to members of the Armed Forces and their dependents.

A Red Cross Field Representative is on hand to carry out this mission under six major functions: counseling in personal and family problems, reporting and communications service, assistance in applying for government benefits, referral service, financial assistance for verified emergency and morale leaves and emergency financial happenings, and the recruitment and training of volunteers. The American Red Cross Field Office is located in the DAP Center, Bldg. 301.

TELEPHONE AND TELEGRAPH

Long distance calls may be made to Canada and the U. S. Instructions for this service is listed in the Base Telephone Directory.

All calls are routed through Corner Brook, Nfld., and from there to the Canadian mainland.

Commercial telegraph service is provided by the Canadian National Telegraph Company, which connects with Western Union for U. S. service. Telegrams addressed to Harmon personnel should use the following address:

Name and Serial Number
Organization
Ernest Harmon AFB
Stephenville, Nfld.

If the APO number is used, messages will only be transmitted as far as New York by telegraph, and from there to Harmon by ordinary mail.

The telegraph office is located in downtown Stephenville.

PRIVATE AUTOMOBILES

Although the majority of roads in the area are poor, with the exception of those on base, personnel assigned to Ernest Harmon may find a car convenient. There are no connecting roads across the island, but dirt and gravel roads lead from the base to nearby communities, including Corner Brook, a city of 30,000 about 60 miles from the base.

Officers and NCOs in the States who wish to drive, or have their cars shipped to Harmon, must obtain prior approval from Headquarters, 4081st Air Base Group, Ernest Harmon AFB, APO 864, N. Y., N. Y. Airmen, who will be living on separate rations with their families, must also obtain the same approval. However, airmen who will be living in the barracks, may neither bring a car with them or purchase one while at Harmon. All automobiles are shipped on competent orders from the Port of New York via water transportation. In some cases, they may also be driven to North Sydney, Nova Scotia, where they are put aboard a ferry to Port aux Basques, Nfld. From there, cars are shipped at the individual's expense via Canadian National Railway to Stephenville Crossing. Individuals may pick them up there and drive to Harmon.

Upon arrival on base, the vehicle must be registered with the ID&R Section of the Base Provost Marshal's Office. Vehicles must be insured with a reliable U. S. firm, or an approved Canadian firm, for $5,000 property damage and $10,000 public liability. Before the vehicle can be driven off-base, Newfoundland license plates and driver's licenses must be obtained. The ID&R Office will assist personnel in the completion of necessary requirements.

Major automobile repairs should be accomplished prior to arrival at Ernest Harmon since garage facilities in the area are not adequate for such things as major transmission overhauls. The Base Auto Hobby Shop may be utilized for numerous small repairs which the individual can accomplish himself.

PRIVately OWNED WEAPONS

Canadian law forbids the possession of a pistol by an individual. If driving to Harmon, all pistols in your possession will be confiscated by border guards at the Canadian-U. S. border. However, rifles (if disassembled) may be legally transported by auto. If rifles are brought, such weapons will immediately be registered with the Base Provost Marshal. Organization commanders will be responsible for providing safe storage of authorized privately-owned weapons belonging to members of their commands.

Pistols may be purchased in the BX, and must be registered immediately with the Base Provost Marshal. Under no circumstances will private pistols be allowed off base.

Authorized owners of rifles may carry or transport them, cased or uncased, to or from marksmanship activities, or when they are to be used in hunting areas, provided that such weapons are unloaded when carried or transported to and from the area of use. In addition, AF personnel authorized to own private weapons must comply with all Canadian and Newfoundland laws, etc. governing the use, etc. of such weapons when taken off the installation.

GENERAL INFORMATION

Be sure to bring the proper clothing for seasonal wear. Snows usually arrive in December and stay until April, so, snow suits storm coats, ice skates, sleds, galoshes, etc. are important winter items. Rainwear is a must for spring and fall. The summer is somewhat shorter than the same period Stateside, however, bring summer wear too, since the weather can get nice and warm.

There will be items which you may want that are not stocked by the Base Exchange. These may be purchased in Stephenville, or you might use mail order services of large U. S. and Canadian firms.

Off-base housing in Stephenville is limited, and the rents rather high, though comparable with those in the States. Off-base housing must conform to base standards, and therefore you will find adequate indoor plumbing, hot water, etc. A heater, usually using oil, is usually the only furnished heating item. Oil may be purchased reasonably on base.

Many persons have found it advantageous to mail ahead household items that will be needed before the regular shipment arrives. Items should be packed in double, corrugated cardboard boxes or wooden boxes, the weight not to exceed 70 pounds or 100 inches overall. Curtains, curtain material, plastic drapes, linens, throw rugs, small pictures, a few pots and pans, and other odds and ends you may need should be included.
